

LEGO

NINJAGO

Masters of Spinjitzu

7+

READ AND CREATE!

WRITE

YOUR OWN COMIC!

VERMILLION WARRIOR BUILDING INSTRUCTIONS INSIDE

centum

This scan was manually done by @Jesse_Minecraft of Internet Archive!

Scanner: HP Scanjet G3110

Links:

jesse.wtf

ko-fi.com/minecraftstorymode

If my scans are helpful for you, please consider leaving a tip! Tips go towards upgrading my scanner and obtaining new books to scan.

HOW TO BUILD A VERMILLION WARRIOR

WHOSE TURN IS IT?

I'D RATHER BE DOING SOMETHING ELSE THAN CLEANING UP
THE TEMPLE.

SAME.

OH!
UNINVITED GUESTS!

WANT TO BET ON WHO WILL BEAT MORE OF THEM? THE LOSER DOES CHORES!

I ACCEPT! HERE GOES NUMBER ONE!

I RAISE THE ANTE!

BUT YOU'RE CHEATING!

NEXT!
I FORESEE SOMEONE
CLEANING ALONE!

STEEL AGAINST STEAL

BY JONATHAN EMPSON

With his bike, Kai raced through the streets of Ninjago City - now eerily quiet after the first wave of the Vermillion Warrior attack. With Jay, Cole and Nya, Kai had already faced their enemies on top of Borg Tower. They had even thrown a few off the roof, but the fall didn't seem to have much of, um, an impact. Red snakes slithered out of the shattered armour and simply reassembled themselves into new fighters. And then the Vermillion Warriors had disappeared. But why? And where?

The ninja had jumped into their vehicles and raced off in different directions to find their foe. Their indestructible foe. "Hmm," thought Kai out loud. "Maybe sticking together would have been a better plan ..."

Kai suddenly spotted two of the warriors down a side street. He twisted the throttle and charged towards them. They were dismantling the steel frame of a new building that was under construction.

"Why did the builders have to use steel?" Kai sighed to himself. "Haven't they heard of plastic bricks?"

Kai jumped off of the bike and into battle before the wheels had even stopped turning - and before he'd counted how many foes he was up against. Uh-oh.

There were two more Vermillion Warriors on the next floor up, busy unbolting beams. It didn't take advanced ninja maths to work out that made four enemies in all.

But there was no backing out now.

Kai did Airjitzu upwards, hurling fireballs at a beam one warrior was trying to remove, welding it into place. Drawing his sword as he landed on a beam, he slashed at the warrior while it was still hopping around and blowing on its fingers, burnt by the now searing-hot beam. The fighter crashed to the ground below them and shattered, with snakes slithering out of the wrecked armour ... and yep, slithering right back into the pieces again. The pieces wriggled towards each other, trying to reassemble.

"You guys give recycling a bad name," said Kai, leaping to the ground on reflex. The ninja narrowly avoided the giant blade of the second warrior on the upper level. His armour looked different - maybe he was some kind of higher rank.

"Yield, human!" cried the new fighter, jumping down to confront Kai.

"Resistance is futile."

"Yeah, whatever," said Kai. "People are always saying that to me. And you know what? It never is."

"What never is what?" said the warrior, looking confused.

"Futile. Resistance, remember?" said Kai. "Try to keep up."

Kai dodged the warrior's angry sword lunge. "So are you the guy in charge here, or what?"

"I am Commander Raggmunk!" said the warrior, circling. "And yes, I control these Vermillion Warriors with my thoughts!"

"Yeah? Too bad thinking isn't your speciality," said Kai. "Here's a tip: if you're going to dismantle a building, you don't start with the ground floor. Makes the floors above it kind of unstable."

"Are you calling me stupid?" roared Raggmunk.

"Yup," said Kai.

Raggmunk charged, but his fury made his sword blows rushed and easy to fend off. Now Kai attacked, forcing Raggmunk back.

Raggmunk touched a hand to his helmet to issue a thought-command to the two other warriors.

"I am in need of assistance!"

The warriors dropped the beams they'd been carrying and closed in on Kai, surrounding him. Blow after blow came raining down from their weapons. There was no escape!

"I think you aren't feeling so smart now!" cried Raggmunk. Then suddenly, he flew backwards, crashing into the beams of the building's ground floor to the sound of rupturing metal.

"Cole!" cried Kai, recognising an Earth Punch when he saw it. "And Jay!" he added, as a lightning bolt felled one of the other warriors and Kai's two friends ran to his side. "How did you find me?"

"We just followed the noise and flames," said Jay. "You sure don't like to fight quietly."

"That guy's lips move when he thinks," said Cole, nodding in Raggmunk's direction. "Did you notice that?"

As Jay and Cole tackled the other Vermillion Warrior, Kai rushed towards Raggmunk, who was staggering to his feet. But then Kai stopped abruptly - the whole building was starting to creak ominously.

"Guys!" Kai called out. "We need to get out of here - now!"

Jay and Cole didn't even stop to question him. "NINJA-GO!" the three cried in unison and used Spinjitzu to get out of harm's way in the nick of time - just as the entire building frame collapsed on top of Raggmunk and the warriors.

The three ninja landed on a nearby rooftop and looked down at the wreckage. "My bad," said Cole. "My direction was a little off with the whole Earth Punch thing."

"Well," said Kai. "They did kinda bring it down on themselves."

Then they heard a muffled voice from deep within the tangled metal. It was Raggmunk: "This isn't over! Do you hear?"

"Wow," said Jay. "I guess the guy's too dumb to know when he's beaten."

"Yeah," said Kai. "You might say his determination is steely!"

RECON

QUITE AN ARMY
THEY HAVE HERE.

HELLO NYA!
WE'RE DONE
COUNTING. THERE'S 235 OF THEM.

HE'S WRONG.
THERE'S 236!

JUST TELL ME HOW MANY THERE ARE!

AN HOUR LATER ...

235!

236!

STOP IT, OR YOU'LL GET CAUGHT!

HA!
I TOLD YOU!
THERE'S 235 OF THEM!!!

OUR TOTAL
NUMBER IS 235.
AND WE HAVE YOU SURROUNDED!

EXACTLY, 235
PROBLEMS!

NOW WE ONLY NEED TO TAKE CARE OF A FEW PROBLEMS ...

WRITE YOUR OWN COMIC

THE SKY PIRATES HAVE BEEN PREYING ON SEASIDE TOWNS IN THEIR RAID ZEPPELIN.

TITLE

ZANE IS CLOSING IN,
BUT...

NOT BAD!!!

FINISH THE COMIC!

Continue the story here, or make up a new comic.

CREATE YOUR OWN TEXT

NINJAGO

Masters of Spinjitzu

Read the action-packed story of how Kai, Jay and Cole battled Raggmunk and the Vermillion Warriors and laugh at the ninjas' comic escapades, then be inspired to create your own exciting LEGO® NINJAGO® comic strips.
From filling in the speech bubbles to designing your own colourful scenes, impress your friends and family with your unique ninja comic adventures!

This book is part of a set.

LEGO, the LEGO logo, the Brick and Knob configurations, the Minifigure and NINJAGO are trademarks of the LEGO Group.
©2018 The LEGO Group.

Produced by AMEET Sp. z o.o.
under license from the LEGO Group.

www.LEGO.com

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying, recording, or by any information storage and retrieval system, without written permission from AMEET Sp. z o.o.

Printed in EU.

MIX Paper from responsible sources
FSC® C111616